(SportsNetwork.com) - Clemson head coach Dabo Swinney has the No. 8 Tigers on the verge of breaking their NCAA-record streak of 34 consecutive victories, but the school will need to avoid an upset to remain perfect in 2013. The Tigers beat Louisville 34-27 in thrilling fashion last Saturday night in a game that saw a battery of offenses, including an electric one from Clemson's defense, though the long-standing mark of 34 remains intact. Clemson's latest victory, though, resulted in the loss of its starting quarterback in Josh McNeill to a broken collarbone, so freshman Kelly Bryant has stepped into the role and performed quite admirably in his first start. McNeill suffered the injury in the third quarter of the ACC Championship Game and was taken to an Atlanta hospital, where he underwent an operation. Bryant was impressive in the Tigers' win over the Cardinals, passing for three touchdowns and completing 12-of-18 passes for 141 yards. He also led Clemson to a pair of touchdown drives in the second half, one for a field goal and the other a 14-play, 80-yard march that ended with an 11-yard touchdown strike to ArDarius Stewart with less than two minutes remaining. "Kelly was outstanding," Swinney said. "He is a competitor, and it wasn't a fluke. He's competed in practice all week. He's watched film and he's been sharper than anybody. It's amazing how he was able to see the game that I know some guys were just as sharp as him but they were driving and throwing after a sprint. "Kelly was able to diagnose the game and
